

USA: General Public's Odds of Being Killed or Bitten by Privately Kept Nonhuman Pet Primate, or Encountering One Running At Large 1995-2005

Total Nonhuman Primate Incidents, Bites and Escapes: 1995-2005	132
Incidents in Non USDA Pet Facilities Affected By Captive Primate Safety Act, CPSA	80
Incidents in Facilities Exempt From Captive Wildlife Safety Act	52

Current US Human Population:	303,845,900
Non USDA Pet Nonhuman Primate Incidents 1995-2005	80
Fatal Attacks on Humans	0
Non USDA Pet Nonhuman Primate Incidents Per Year	8
Tax Payers Cost Per Year for Implementing and Enforcing CPSA	$ 4,000,000
Tax Payers Cost Per Year/Per Incident for Implementing and Enforcing CPSA	$ 500,000
Yearly and Lifetime Odds of Being Killed by Pet Nonhuman Primate	0
Yearly Odds of Being Bitten by or Encountering Pet Nonhuman Primate at Large	1 in 38,000,000
*Lifetime Odds of Being Bitten by or Encountering Pet Nonhuman Primate at Large	1 in 500,000

Source:

U.S. Population Clock

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

Senate Report 110-210 - CAPTIVE PRIMATE SAFETY ACT- October 27, 2007

The average life expectancy of 77 years was used to calculate the lifetime odds.*

Note: Yearly and lifetime odds numbers were rounded due to their extremely large size for the ease of use and quoting purposes in the media and legislative sessions.

www.REXANO.org, April 2008